SET MONDAY FOR SHINGLE HEARING

Ordinance Would Abolish Wood Roofing. Foes to Voice Views.

SEEK LOW FIRE RATE

The public hearing with reference to the proposed anti-shingle ordinance will be held by the Ordinance and Law Committee of the Borough Council, in Elm Hall, at 8 o'clock Monday evening, the 29th. It is to the interest of all property owners to make it a point to be present or to be represented, and either to express their opinions on this ordinace or to listen to the discussion for and against it. This ordinance will come up for possible passage in Borough Council soon and the members of Council will be strongly influenced by the manifestations of public opinion which are revealed at this public hearing.

This ordinance, if adopted, would be an amendment of certain sections of the zoning ordinance and if it should be passed, it is claimed that it would prove to be a sound and valid law which could be enforced and sustained against all attacks. It is not the disposition of Council to impose serious restrictions upon property in the Borough, but Council insists that it is also charged with the responsibility of promoting greater safety and security so far as the fire hazard is concerned.

Opposition to the proposed ordinance has been voiced in "Our Town" by T. Noel Butler, lifelong opponent of anti-wooden shingle laws, and by William D. Smedley and S. Haws. All such objectors will have an opportunity to air their views at Monday's meeting.

In order that all citizens may be

STRUCK A TARTAR

Crazed Man Keeps Several Policemen Busy.

Officer Emil Piquet, of the Narberth police, made the acquaintance of an interesting personality last Friday, whom he proceeded to introduce to several of his brother officers.

Late in the afternoon a man stopped Piquet and stated that he was ill. The cop was suspicious of the nature of the illness and walked into John Caldwell's office to phone headquarters for a patrol.

But, in the meantime, the customer became wild, and seemed on the verge of destroying some scenery. Instead of waiting for the reserves, Wayne Burnside, of the postoffice force, volunteered as chauffeur and the three started for Ardmore.

By the time the car reached Lancaster pike the stranger was kicking up a large row, and Piquet was perched on top with a strangle grip on the lunatic's throat. At that point Officer Albany joined the expedition and rendered welcome help.

At Ardmore the man gave his name as Tony Risco, no home, age 35. He was taken before Magistrate McLaughlin, who made out commitment papers. In the meantime a straightjacket and handcuffs were called in play at the Lower Merion jail, where the man was giving several policemen a battle.

With Lieutenant Al Miller at the wheel, and Sergeant Vanderveur and Officers Piquet and Kelley holding the man, the trip to Norristown was started. On the way the crazed man kicked holes in the side curtains and tried to kick a hole in the back of Miller's head. The car swerved close to a tree, but in due time the man was safely lodged in the State Hospital.

COLLEGE STARS TO PLAY WITH ALUMNI

Big Doings Promised When L. M. and Radnor Grads Meet.

TO SCRAP IN ARDMORE

College stars and football players of the first rank will meet tomorrow afternoon on the Lower Merion High School Athletic Field in Ardmore and rekindle old rivalries. Cousins will battle cousins, fraternity men will fight with brother Greeks and mates on college teams will find each other going into action from the opposite side of the line.

The occasion will be the first football game ever staged between the alumni of Lower Merion High School and the grads of Radnor High. The game will be for the benefit of the scholarship funds of the respective alumni associations of the two schools.

In view of the beating which Radnor handed Lower Merion in the annual gridiron match last week a large crowd is expected to turn out for the fray. Lower Merion followers see in this game a chance for vengence.

Duffy Myers, Lower Merion, '17, and Brown star, will be one of those taking part in the battle. Among other college lights who will appear will probably be Don Singer, Penn end; Folwell Scull, Penn end; Jules Prevost, Penn State star and Radnor High coach, and perhaps Paul Scull, brilliant back of Lou Young's Red and Blue eleven.

If everybody gets around who has signified intentions of doing so, there will be two cousins, Frank McGrady, '18, of Lower Merion, and McGrady, of Radnor and later a player at Villanova, facing each other. Also on one side of the line there will be Don Singer, Penn end, who will play for Radnor, while on the other will be Paul and Folwell Scull, teammates at Penn, playing for Lower Merion.

JR. COMMUNITY CLUB

Mrs. Robert F. Wood was the speaker at the November 18th meeting of the Junior Community Club, held in the home of Mrs. Wallis Boileau, Jr., 210 Wayne avenue, Narberth. Her subject was "Dinners in Modern Kitchens."

The next meeting of the club will be held Thursday, December 2, at the home of Mrs. S. B. Diefendorf, 301 Windsor avenue. The speaker will be Miss Walban, of the Main Line Federation of Churches.

METHODIST CHURCH BAZAAR

Just one more week and then the Ladies' Aid Bazaar. Don't forget the date—December 4—and do not fail to come. All the ladies are busy and every one is talking bazaar. You'll be able to buy all the cakes and pies you want at the home bake table, Christmas presents from the fancy table and the miscellaneous table will have just the thing you've been looking for. There'll be a large assortment of engraved Christmas cards and calendars, none costing more than five cents each.

You can buy your lunch and dinner there, too. The aprons are prettier and cost less than ever before and think of it—you can bring your market basket with you this year and buy your groceries for the next couple of weeks ahead. We earnestly hope the ladies will all keep this in mind and make this new table well worth the effort put forth to make it a success.

NARBERTH TENNIS CLUB GIVES DANCE

Speechmaking and Awards of Cups Feature Annual Dinner Dance.

DEC. 15 IS NEXT DATE

The annual dinner dance of the Narberth Tennis Association, held this year for the first time in the Merion Tribute House, on Wednesday evening, November 17, proved to be a very enjoyable affair. Try as they may, future entertainment committees will have a hard job to select a more suitable place for an affair of this kind. The homelike atmosphere of the lounge, the architectural beauties of the memorial hall and the perfect qualities and roominess of the dance floor almost assure the success of any gathering.

The Tennis Association is very fortunate to have been able to secure the Tribute House for their dinner dance and the other dances to be held later in the year. Not only were the surroundings perfect but the dinner itself and the music were all that could be expected and more.

At the conclusion of the dinner President "Bill" Evans called upon Walter Cowin, chairman of the Board of Trustees, who delivered a very inspiring talk on many subjects. He was followed by Mr. Paul Gibbons, president of the Philadelphia and District Lawn Tennis Association, and "Dick" Fenno, vice-president of the club.

Following the speeches cups were presented to the only two winners present, Harold Lane and Thorny Grugan. There was also displayed the Warner cup given by Fred Warner, a former champion of the club many times. This beautiful cup has to be won three times for permanent possesion. Harold Lane has the peculiar honor of being the first to have his name engraved upon it.

As usual dancing followed until midnight, to the strains of Mike Fischs' versatile orchestra.

The members of the Narberth Tennis Association and their friends are reminded that the next dance, which will be the first of a series of four, will be held in the Merion Tribute House on Wednesday evening, December 15. Tickets for this one or all four dances can be secured from E. J. MacKay, Ronald Page or H. C. Fenno, of the entertainment committee.

DIRECTORS DINE

The annual dinner of the directors and officers of the Narberth Building and Loan Association was held Tuesday night at the Manufacturers' Club, Philadelphia.

Present were the 13 officers and directors, in addition to the solicitor, Fletcher W. Stites, and Burgess Henry A. Frye.

After the dinner, the group attended "A Night in Paris."

ELECTION EXPENSES

Edward S. Haws, Narberth, Democraic candidate for Assembly, spent $110.73, according to his expense account filed in the office of Clerk of Courts Bechtel.

Court Upholds Zoning Laws. Decision Affects Narberth

The United States Supreme Court handed down a decision this week with reference to the zoning of business and residence property which undoubtedly will have a direct bearing upon the Narberth zoning ordinance, especially those phases of the local ordinance which prevent the development of business along Montgomery avenue. In that decision, the United States Supreme Court sustained unqualifiedly the right of municipalities to enact and enforce zoning laws.

The case on which the Supreme Court gave this ruling was, in some respects, similar to the Narberth situation. It came to the Court on an appeal by the village of Euclid, a suburb of Cleveland, O. The Federal Court for the Northern District of Ohio on a petition of the Ambler Realty Company had held that the zoning ordinance passed by the village council was void.

The Euclid village council had classified the realty company's holdings as residential lots, whereas the company wanted them zoned as business lots. The realty company asserted that its property was worth $10,000 an acre if used as business sites, but not more than $2500 an acre for residential purposes. The realty company based its action on the grounds that the zoning ordinance was in derogation of Article I of the Fourteenth Amendment of the Constitution, in that it deprived them of liberty and property without due process of law and, further, that it denied them the equal protection of the law.

The Supreme Court sustained the zoning ordinance and denied the petition of the realty company. The written decision states that the segregation of residence, business and industrial buildings increases the security of home life, tends to prevent street accidents, especially to children; decreases noise and other conditions which produce or intensify nervous disorders and preserves a more favorable environment in which to rear the young. The decision says also, "The ordinance now under review and all similar laws and regulations find their justification in some aspect of the police power asserted for the public welfare." Undoubtedly this decision will exercise a powerful influence on all decisions in cases bearing upon local zoning ordinances.

Officers of the borough have recently been informed that a law suit against the borough to attack the Narberth zoning ordinance was contemplated, although definite indications of such procedure have not yet become apparent.

Jean Gowland will lead the Luther league meeting tomorrow night. The topic will be "The Flaws."

REJUVENATED LEGION TO GO AFTER NEW MEMBERS

Enthusiam at Meeting Tuesday Promises Future Activity.

The Harild D. Speakman Post, No. 356, of the American Legion is on its toes and al set for a period of community work.

This was shown Tuesday night when the first formal meeting in several years was held at the post home in the Community House. The meeting followed closely the successful banquet two weeks ago.

The Tuesday meeting also included the first formal initiation ceremony ever held by the local post. Five new members were taken in at that time, the result of personal membership work by the veterans.

A quiet but continued membership campaign is now under way, with the hope of reaching 100 in membership early in the year. At the next meeting, to be held December 20, a turkey will be awarded to the man bringing in the greatest number of new members.

The resumption of regular meetigns in the new home has led the committee to make special efforts to have the gatherings interesting. Tuesday night a four-reel film, "The Crack of Doom," by O. Henry was shown to the delight of all present. Other such features are planned.

A big rally meeting, to which the whole town will be invited, is planned for some time in January. An executive committee meeting Monday evening will get plans under way for this affair, and for others which, it is hoped, will make 1927 the banner year for the local post.

COMMUNITY CLUB TO MEET NEXT TUESDAY

To Hear Mrs. H. K. Kelly, of Cynwyd, on Books.

The Community Club will meet in Elm Hall Tuesday, November 30, at 2.30 P. M. Mrs. Henry K. Kelly, Jr., of Cynwyd, will review some recent books and also Christmas books, maybe not so new. Mrs. Kelly is known as an entertaining speaker. Mrs. J. B. Hipwell, Jr., will sing.

The press chairman regrets the omission of the names of those who served tea at the meeting of November 16. Apology is due to Mrs. George B. Suplee, the hostess, and to Mrs. William Ballingall, Mrs. Joseph Barclay, Mrs. T. Noel Butler, Mrs. E. S. Deubler, Mrs. J. S. Ketcham, Mrs. C. W. Munro and Mrs. Dunstan Smith.

By all reports the dinner-dance on November 19 proved to be all that anticipation could have painted it. "A delicious dinner and a ripping good time" is the usual enthusiastic comment. Hudson Wagonseller's orchestra is a real toe-tickler and the artists, whose names follow, seemed inspired thereby:

Miss Ruth Hollar—Toe dance and eccentric dance.

Miss Mary Megee, of Narberth—Charleston.

Master Jackie Smith, 7-year-old star—Sailor's hornpipe and Charleston.

Mr. Henry Hillard, amateur Charleston champion of the U. S.—Charleston plus.

The Board of Directors are to be congratulated on the success of their careful planning and hard work.

Don't forget the luncheon and card party in Elm Hall December 8. Tickets at 75 cents may be had from any of the hospitality committee.

Mrs. E. H. Cockrill, chairman of Club Classes, is organizing a gymnasium class. A preliminary meeting at the house of Mrs. Robert Nash, Narberth and Price avenues, is set for Thursday, December 2, at 9.30 A. M. The week after Thanksgiving is an appropriate time to start reducing.

ERRATUM

In reporting the attempted burglarly of the Oddity Shop last week, Our Town's news sleuth confused the names in his account. It was Mrs. Lacey, and not Mrs. Nash, who figured in the episode, in which an eccentric clad in overcoat, hat and bedroom slippers, attempted to make away with some gift cards.

Miss Smith Was in "Circulation," But She Explained It Readily

Few readers of "Our Town" know that while it is printed on the Main Line at Wayne, the "metal" for its forms is set or linotyped in the composing room of "The Philadelphia Record." That information is of no particular news value, but it provides the background and the explanation for an amusing story, which was picked up last week while "ye demon newshound" was idling time away for Foreman Sam Edwards to clean up some final copy.

First, let it be explained that workers on a newspaper refer to the various departments of their organization by one word. Thus the sporting department is spoken of as "sports;" the advertising department as "advertising;" the circulation department as "circulation;" the society department as "society," and so on.

On this particular day a woman called "The Record" city room and asked the reporter who answered the phone if he could tell her where Miss—well, let's say Smith—was. Without thinking, the reporter replied, "Oh, she's in circulation. Just a minute and I'll see if I can get her for you."

The woman didn't know what the reporter was talking about, but "Miss Smith" explained when she came on the wire. Likewise, an inquirer might be told, Miss so and so was in society when she might not be at all.

RADNOR VETS MAKE BREAKS; WIN 27-0

Green L. M. Team Goes Down to First Defeat in Four Years.

GAME FULL OF THRILLS

As 10,000 people watched, Lower Merion High for the first time in four years was toppled from its perch as ruler of Main Line scholastic football, and Radnor, ancient rival, emerged to assume the crown taken from it in 1922.

The occasion was the twenty-fourth annual gridiron classic staged between the two schools Saturday afternoon at Wayne and the sad news, that mournful dirge which runs in the ears of loyal L. M. rooters is "Lower Merion, 0; Radnor, 27.

Four touchdowns and three points after touchdown that was Radnor's margin of victory.

Score Belies Struggle.

But while the Maroon and White lost there was no disgrace attendant upon it. Going up to Wayne with the odds against them and with impartial observors predicting a runaway for Radnor, Coach Adams warriors fought one of the gamest battles that a Lower Merion eleven has ever staged. Three times did they have the ball within Radnor's six-yard line and at every stage of the game did they force the big Red eleven of Wayne to go the limit for a victory. It was a battle every inch of the way.

The score belies the intensity of the struggle, and it is best explained when it is stated that Radnor made it by the breaks of the game. Not one of those touchdowns was scored by a consistent drive down the field and through Lower Merion territory. This is attested to by the statistics of the contest which show but six first-downs for the Wayne eleven to eight for Lower Merion.

But when it is claimed that Radnor won on "breaks" of the game, let there be no inference that it was a victory unearned nor by any means a fluke. Radnor got the breaks, but Radnor engineered those breaks and was alert and on its feet to take advantage of them when they occurred. Thereby hangs the tale which reads—two touchdowns on blocked kicks, one on an 80-yard run back of a kick off, and a fourth touchdown on an intercepted forward pass, which was thrown by Lower Merion as a final desperate bid for a score while within its own 15-yard line.

Wonder Not Higher.

Considering everything it is a matter of wonder that the score against the Ardmore eleven was not run up higher. Coach Adams in his invasion of Wayne took with him a green eleven; one that

KNUTZEN—JONES

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Charles Jones announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Lillian Scott Jones, to Mr. Thomas Egil Knutzen, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Knutzen, of 202 Forrest avenue, Narberth.

The marriage was performed by Rev. Norman G. Oliver at the home of the bride's parents, 735 Concord avenue, Drexel Hill, Pa., at 5.30 Thanksgiving evening. A dinner reception followed.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and attended by her sister, Miss Margaret Jones, as maid of honor. Mr. Philip Knutzen, brother of the bridegroom, was best man, and a sister, Miss Cecilia Knutzen, played the wedding march.

Mr. Knutzen is a member of the sales staff of the Narberth Coal Company. He served in the Radio Corps of the Naval Reserve during the war, earning the rank of chief petty officer. He is also a member of the local American Legion Post.

Upon their return from a trip Mr. Knutzen and his bride will reside at 57 North Brighton avenue, Kirklyn, Pa.

RADNOR VETERANS MAKE BREAKS AND WIN 27-0

had been shot to pieces by June graduations and which after moulded into the semblance of its old self this fall was again hit when a five-year player rule was enforced to deprive it a captain and three other veterans. It was an eleven with weak ends and a slow backfield and one in such a shape that a linesman, Scott, had to be put into the backfield to add strength there.

Against this aggregation there was a well balanced team with many veterans in its line up and with a pair of ends that are among the fastest and the best that have been produced at Wayne in several years.

It was these two ends, performing brilliantly for Radnor, who gave Lower Merion the most trouble and were responsible almost single handed for the downfall of the Ardmore eleven. One was that colored flash, little Seth Brown, right wing for Radnor, who was the individual star of the fray and who was personally responsible for one touchdown and the starter of a march for another one. The other boy was his capable mate, Lamley, at left end, who scored one of Radnor's other six pointers and who was constantly breaking through Lower Merion's defense to harry the backfield men.

Both these ends were fast; Lower Merion couldn't seem to stop them, and repeatedly they got down the field on Radnor punts to drop the Lower Merion man, receiving them before he had time to stir out of his tracks. Seldom were these two taken out by the ends playing opposite them. Most of the time the Lower Merion backs had to attend to the job, and it was seldom that they were successful.

Lower Merion's inability to cover these flashy ends and the slowness of its back field in providing interference for the man handling the ball explain in a large manner why the "breaks" which went to Coach Prevost's big Red eleven.

For the Ardmore team, Litchfield, who came into the fray as a substitute quarterback in the early part of the third quarter, was one glittering performer. His first act was to take the ball on a forward pass—the only one—and slip around the left part of Radnor's line for a brilliant run of 35 yards. And on the very next play the Lower Merion stands, steeped in deep gloom since Brown's 80-yard run for a touchdown at the opening of the half, were electrified to see Litchfield s big number 10 go through the Radnor line for another fifteen yards.

A series of trick plays, patterned after those of Penn's four magacians. mixed up with line bucks and a couple of off tackle plays, directed at Captain Harkness in the left side of Radnor's line, then brought the pikskin to within the shadow of the Wayne goal posts. There the Maroon and White offensive stopped when Adam's proteges failed by a matter of inches to put the oval over the line. Radnor took the ball on downs and kicked to safety. That took the heart out of the team, and from that time on while it still continued to fight gamely, Lower Merion never seriously threatened to score.

Lower Merion had twice before had chances to score and both times failed. This was in the very first quarter when the Maroon and White started hostilities like a world beater. Then, as during the third quarter drive, loyal rooters who had at the best hoped for a scoreless tie, had visions of a touchdown.

HOLD HEARING MONDAY ON SHINGLE ORDINANCE

familiar with the exact proposals of this ordinance, the section bearing upon shingle roofs is printed in full as follows:

Every building hereafter erected within the fire limits of the borough shall have a fire-resistive roof covering, and no existing wooden shingle roof within sail limits, if damaged more than ten per centum (10%) shall be renewed or repaired with other than a fire-resistive roof covering.

All buildings outside of fire limits, except as given below, shall have roof covering of standard quality approved by Underwriters Labratories, such as brick, concrete, tile, or slate; or highest trade of tin roofing, or of asbestos shingles, or built up roofing felt with gravel or slag surface, or of built up asbestos roofing; or other roofing of like grade which includes:

CLASS A. Roof coverings which are effective against severe fire exposures. Under such exposure roof coverings of this class are not readily flammable and do not carry or communicate fire; do not slip from position; possess no flying brand hazard and do not require frequent repairs in order to maintain their fire resisting properties.

CLASS B. Roof coverings which are effective against moderate fire exposures. Under such exposure roof coverings of this class are not readily flammable and do not readily carry or communicate fire; afford a moderate degree of heat insulation to the roof deck; do not slip from position; posess no flying brand hazard; but may require infrequent repairs in order to maintain their fire resisting properties.

EXCEPTIONS. (a) Dwellings; (b) Frame buildings; (c) Buildings not exceeding two stories or 30 feet in height, and 2500 square feet in area, and not used for factories, warehouses or mercantile purposes.

The quality of roofing for all dwellings and other buildings exempted in paragraph above, shall be as therein specified, or may be of a grade not lower than the following:

CLASS C. Roof coverings which are effective against light fire exposures. Under such exposures roof coverings of this class are not readily flammable and do not readily carry or comunicate fire; afford at least a slight degree of heat insulation to the roof deck; do not slip from position; posses no flying brand hazard; and may require occasional repairs or renewals in order to maintain their fire resisting properties.

A layer or roofing felt at least one-sixteenth inch thick shall be placed between metal roofing and the supporting woodwork. The purposes of the felt is to prevent quick ignition of the wooden decking when the roof is exposed to burning brands or radiated heat.

The wooden planking sheathing of roofs shall not in any case be extended across side or party walls.

Any roof having pitch over 60 degrees, placed on any building over 40 feet high, except towers or church spiers, shall be constructed of iron or steel frames filled with fireproof material not less than three and one-half inches thick and shall be covered with approved roofing

All flashings shall be metal properly incorporated with the roofing material. Copper flashings are recommended.

The top and sides of dormer windows shall be protected same as the roof.

This section shall not be construed to repairing of a wooden shingle roof, provided the building is not increased in height, but the renewal of such a roof is forbidden. No existing wooden shingl- roof shall be repaired more than fifteen per cent. at any one time or in any one year with other than approved roofing as specified in paragraph 2.

On or before June 1, 1946, every roof covered with wooden shingles shall be replaced with apphoved fireproof material corresponding with the requirements for new buildings.

All buildings shall be provided to with proper metal gutters and leaders which shall be connected to the sewer, and where there are no sewers such leaders shall be connected by pipes below the surface and under the sidewalk of the street gutter or a cesspool. in such manner as will protect the walls and foudations from damage, and shall not menace the health or comfort of the public.

Upon the roof of every building more than 15 feet high, which is not required to have stairs and bulkhead leading thereto, there shall be a scuttle with stairs or substantial stationary step-ladder leading to same which shall be easily accessible at all times to all occupants without the use of keys. All non-fire-proof scuttles shall be covered on the top and edge with sheet metal or other approved fireproof material. The roof openings shall be at least two feet by three feet in size.

WILL GIVE CARD PARTY

A card party for the Narberth girl scouts will be given by the Mothers' Association Wednesday December 8, at 2.15 P. M. It will be held at the scout house on Windsor avenue. The admission of 50 cents will include prizes and refreshments.

FOUND GUILTY

Joseph McCourt, of Narberth, charged before Judge Williams with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor and resisting an officer, was found guilty, with a recommendation of mercy. Attorney H. I. Fox represented the defendant. Policeman Casey, of the Lower Merion force, arrested the defendant.

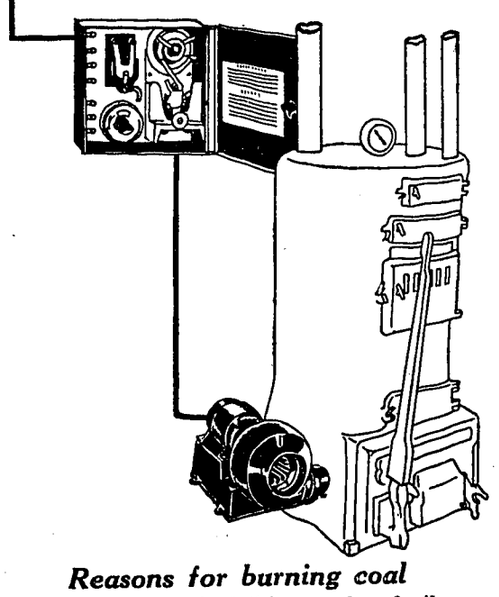
Save half your coal bill and 2-3 on oil!

Save labor---save time---maintain an even temperature in coldest weather with a Kunkel Combustion System.



You can cut your coal bill in half with a Kunkel Combustion System, because with it you can burn buckwheat coal at $7.50 a ton, instead of burning larger coal at $15 to $16 a ton—or oil at $18.70 a ton.

You can also eliminate about 75 per cent. of the labor in connection with your furnace operation—because the Kunkel Combustion System controls automatically the desired temperature in your home. No more running to the cellar—no more worry about drafts and dampers.

The Kunkel Combustion System is not a carburetor, not a trifling something that's "attached" to your furnace. It is a complete combustion system which operates as an integral part of your heating plant and makes it possible to burn buckwheat coal without changing your grates or altering your furnace in any way.

The Kunkel Combustion System has been tested and approved by General Electric Company, Philadelphia Electric Company, the Fire Underwriters and by eminent heating engineers.

Many homes in and near Philadelphia are now using it with complete satisfaction.

Let our heating engineers tell you what the Kunkel Combustion System can do for you.

Reasons for burning coal

1. Only 6 years' visible supply of oil.
2. Oil is expensive.
3. Oil prices have increased yearly.
4. Coal is cheaper than oil.
5. Coal is safer.
6. Coal is more dependable.

Poem written by Mrs. R. Henderson Farley.

On this, a day of holy memory,
We gather here to lay a stone,
To lay it with fair colors, for a witness
To our high visions, to our bright ideal.
Once, in our ignorance,
We thought of stones as matter, dead, inert;
But now we know each one a universe,
A little world complete;
The truth of science is the truth of God;
All truth is one, and we are kin
To all creation.
So let this stone, a vibrant, living symbol
Cement our lives in bonds unbreakable.

Today, as we look back
Along the vista of the Past,
Our minds are peopled with a sleeping company,
Radiant, glorious, Lord, may we not forget!
I like to think
That gracious spirits who have labored here
Are now aware
Of this, the consummation of their dream;
Ane may their lingering radiance not lend
A special beauty to this senient hour?

August our yesterdays; yet must we look ahead;
We build for shining, glorious tomorrows!
It has been said that brick and stone congeal
In frozen music;
Then let the inner harmonies
Ring through these walls; a harp of many strings
Making melodious this meeting place.

I see the sunlight's golden dust
Lighting these windows, and thes gracious walls;
The sunset's wild, red rose, illumining
Each pane with rainbow coloring;
Moonlight, like hoarfrost, resting on this roof;
Now, from these walls, may stone and brick cry out
Our high remembrance, and our covenant;
And may the living stone we lay today
Be symbol of the New Community,
Where Truth and Beauty wed in Fellowship.

Justice of Peace, High Officer With Judge's Powers at One Time

When mention is made of the fact that such men of note in early times of Montgomery County as Frederick A. Muhlenberg, Frederick Antes, Zebulon Potts or Robert Loller held the office of justice of peace, it may seem as though that were a small office for men of such calibre to hold. But the office of justice of the peace was no minor one in the eighteenth century. The justice of the peace prior to the Revolution and for some years afterward had powers equivalent to those which the judges of the courts now exercise.

Immediately upon the founding of the government of Pennsylvania, in 1682, justices of the peace were appointed. It is an English office, the justices in that country having been chosen from among the "most efficient knights, esquires and gentlemen of the law."

The Pennsylvania justices of the peace were not necessarily men learned in the law. But they were men who possessed the confidence of their fellow-citizens and were esteemed for their probity and sound common sense.

Could Hold Court.

About the time of the Revolution the justices had authority to hold courts of common pleas, quarter sessions and general pail delivery. Numerous other duties were also imposed upon them. At one time, in an endeavor to check extortion among liquor dealers, justices were by law directed to fix the price of liquor periodically, and also the price of provender for horses. The latter provision suggests that the hostlers at the taverns had been emulating the man behind the bar.

Up to the time of the Revolution, the Governor or Lieutenant Governor appointed the trustees. Then from 1779 until 1788 they were commissioned by the Supreme Executive Council. After 1790 they were again appointed by the Governor, and later on the office was made elective.

According to the act creating Montgomery county, in 1784, any three of the justices of the peace of the county could hold court.

The court of justices had jurisdiction in virtually all kinds of cases except felonies punishable by death. Their term was seven years. Judges of the Supreme Court made circuit tours and visited each county twice a year to hear cases requiring their attention.

The commission which the Supreme Executive Council issued jointly to Henry Scheetz, of Whitemarsh, and John Richards, of New Haven, in 1784 may be quoted to ilustrate the power committed to justices of the peace in those days. It reads thus:

"Reposing special trust and confidence in your patriotism, prudence, integrity and abilities, know that we have assigned you, and each of you, justices of the peace in the county aforesaid to keep all laws made for the good of the peace and for the conservation of the same to keep and cause to be kept, and to chastise and punish all persons offending against the same within the said county; giving hereby and granting unto you, the said John Richards and Henry Scheetz, and to each of you, full power and authority to execute and perform all the several acts and things which and justice of the peace in the county aforesaid, by the constitution and laws of this commonwealth lawfully can, may or ought to do, both in the Courts of General Quarter Sessions of the Peace and Jail Delivery and of special and private sessions and elsewhere, to have and hold such power and authority for seven years, you behaving yourself well."

There were about that time eight districts in the county, which had one justice of the peace, and in addition there were portions of two other districts which extended beyond the county limits.

Upper Merion and Lower Merion, together with Blockley township, in Philadelphia, were a district.

The justices of the peace formed the county courts until the adoption of the State constitution of 1790, which created a separate judiciary and restricted the powers of the justices to their districts.

Simply as a part of the scenery, it is pleasant to view the building at the west end of Haverford Avenue. A brick colonial structure, dignified, friendly, strong, attractive.

Appearance, of course, is but a part of an institution's duty to the community it serves. Back of the white-painted doorway there must be a friendly welcome, and the capacity to serve.

These, we think, you will find here. The strength of the National Banking System is at your command, and the courtesy which comes only through genuine neighborly contact.

AT THE HEAD OF THE STREET

Simply as a part of the scenery, it is pleasant to view the building at the west end of Haverford Avenue. A brick colonial structure, dignified, friendly, strong, attractive.

Appearance, of course, is but a part of an institution's duty to the community it serves. Back of the white-painted doorway there must be a friendly welcome, and the capacity to serve.

These, we think, you will find here. The strength of the National Banking System is at your command, and the courtesy which comes only through genuine neighborly contact.

November 11, 1926

Poem written by Mrs. R. Henderson Farley.

On this, a day of holy memory,
We gather here to lay a stone,
To lay it with fair colors, for a witness
To our high visions, to our bright ideal.
Once, in our ignorance,
We thought of stones as matter, dead, inert;
But now we know each one a universe,
A little world complete;
The truth of science is the truth of God;
All truth is one, and we are kin
To all creation.
So let this stone, a vibrant, living symbol
Cement our lives in bonds unbreakable.

Today, as we look back
Along the vista of the Past,
Our minds are peopled with a sleeping company,
Radiant, glorious. Lord, may we not forget!
I like to think
That gracious spirits who have labored here
Are now aware
Of this, the consummation of their dream;
Ane may their lingering radiance not lend
A special beauty to this senient hour?

August our yesterdays; yet must we look ahead;
We build for shining, glorious tomorrows!
It has been said that brick and stone congeal
In frozen music;
Then let the inner harmonies
Ring through these walls; a harp of many strings
Making melodious this meeting place.

I see the sunlight's golden dust
Lighting these windows, and thes gracious walls;
The sunset's wild, red rose, illumining
Each pane with rainbow coloring;
Moonlight, like hoarfrost, resting on this roof;
Now, from these walls, may stone and brick cry out
Our high remembrance, and our covenant;
And may the living stone we lay today
Be symbol of the New Community,
Where Truth and Beauty wed in Fellowship.

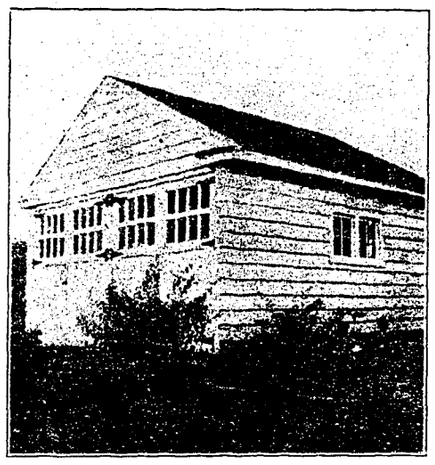
A "Fir" Coat for Your Car

A Garage can be more quickly constructed with lumber, and, properly lined inside, will prove a good insulator in protecting your car from the winter elements.



There are many attractive Garage designs and plans in our Lumber Library at your disposal any day between 7 A. M. and 5.30 P. M., Saturday until 12 noon, or any evening by appointment.

Fir, White Pine, Yellow Pine and Cypress are adaptable for outside work and we would be glad to tell you approximately what the material for a Garage of your design would cost.

No admission will be charged.

The public is cordially invited to hear the boys. A silver offering will be lifted. Time, 8.15 o'clock.

TESTIMONIAL RECEPTION TO FATHER BRADY

Parishioners Pay Tribute to Popular Curate.

Last Monday evening a testimonial reception was accorded Rev. T. A. Brady, until recently assistant rector of St. Margaret's Catholic Church. The parish hall was crowded by the presence of the numerous friends which the young curate had made in his two years' residence in Narberth, and as an appreciation of the high esteem in which he is held a handsome radio set was presented to him by the members of the congregation.

The evening's exercises were under the direction of Henry P. Carr, president of the Holy Name Society, who recountered the manner in which Father Brady had endeared himself to St. Margaret's people and he expressed the extreme regret which accompanied the announcement of his transfer to St. Joseph's Church at Collingdale.

Father Brady stated that he would always have a warm affection for the friends he had made in Narberth and that he felt he had been signally favored in having the opportunity to spend part of his priestly career in a community which had so much to offer in the way of stimulus and inspiration for spiritual service. He lauded the cordial and effective co-operation which he had always received and declared that it was his fond hope that he would continue to be regarded as an integral part of St. Margaret's Parish and privileged to participate in its affairs as far as his other duties would allow him. Father Brady was given an enthusiastic ovation at the conclusion of his address.

Rev. Robert F. Hayes, the new pastor of St. Margaret's, also expressed in his own behalf, and for the parish, his high regard for Father Brady's endeavors, and for his notable personal qualities. Father Hayes stated that it was a keen disappointment to him when Father Brady was transferred, but that there was nothing he could do to retain him in Narberth in face of the great scarcity of priests at the present. The new pastor revealed that living in the coal country apparently imposed no inhibitions on a fine sense of exquisite humor, because, as Michael Collins put it, not even Frank Fogarty himself could tell them better. The pity is, as Michael says, too, it wouldn't be right at all to have the priest in the Minstrel Show.

Father O'Donnell, of St. Colman's, was also on hand to voice his warm regard for Father Brady, and to say a thing or two about the respective merits of Ardmore and Narberth. As he was the last speaker, however, he probably felt pressed for time, and therefore did not have the opportunity to explain why it was that Narberth had a fine church years and years before such was the case in Ardmore. Maybe he will on the next occasion.

A program of interesting vaudeville followed the addresses and refreshments were served by the ladies of the Sodality.

BOWL 3 STRAIGHT WINS

Meteors and Lions Triumph in Interchurch League.

On Friday evening, November 19, the Methodist Meteors won three games from the Baptist Boosters, and on Monday evening, November 22, the Lutheran Lions led the Methodist Marathons a merry chase, taking all three games.

FIRESIDE

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Longbottom, of Elmwood avenue, are now occupying their new home at 440 Sycamore avenue, Merion.

Mrs. Mary Daniel, of Gratz, Pa., is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. C. A. Speakman, at 243 Hampden avenue.

Mrs. John Whitten has returned to Huntington, West Virginia, after visiting her daughter, Mrs, Adolph Vogel, at 215 Avon road.

Commander Charles H. Shaw, U. S. N., who has returned from a ten weeks' cruise near Hayti and Cuba, expects to be in Narberth until after January 1.

Mr. Jack Maguire, of Pittsburgh, is home over the Thanksgiving holidays, visiting his parents at 300 Grayling avenue.

Edwin Martin of Wayne road has returned home from Penn State College for the Thanksgiving holidays.

Mr. Jefferson Yowell, of Winsdor avenue, is on his way to Florida, where he expects to remain all winter.

Miss Clarissa Endicott, of Montgomery avenue, is visiting friends in Atlantic City over the week-end.

Mr and Mrs. Jesse S. Harris, of 135 Merion avenue, are entertaining the James F. Donnellys, of Philadelphia and Atlantic City, formerly of Narberth.

Robert Harris is visiting friends at East Orange over the week-end.

Francis M. Lambert, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Leslie Lambert, of 216 Hampden avenue, has been elected to the honorary society of Sigma Pi at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N. Y. Election to this society is the highest honor that can come to a student at the Institute.

Lambert graduated from Narberth High School with the class of 1923 and entered the Troy Polytechnic the following September in the Department of Mechanical Engineering. He has maintained an excellent scholastic record at the institute and will be graduated next June.

HACKETT—BURLEIGH

The marriage of Miss Anna Frances Burleigh, of Narberth, to Mr. Ernest A. Hackett, of Philadelphia, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Hackett, of Canton, Pa., took place last Saturday morning in St. Margaret's Church. The ceremony was performed at a Nuptial Mass, the Rev. Dr. Clune officiating.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. Leon B. Eichengreen, of Narberth, and was attended by Miss Margaret Cooper as maid of honor. Miss Jane Eichengreen, a niece of the bride, was flower girl.

Mr. William H. Dickel was best man for Mr. Hackett, and the ushers were Mr. C. Arthur Bullock, Mr. Eric Senville, Mr. Samuel Howe and Mr. Thomas Kearny.

A breakfast followed the ceremony at the Bellevue-Stratford.

Upon their return from a wedding trip, Mr. Hackett and his bride will live at 737 Old Lancaster road, Bryn Mawr, where they will be at home after December 15.

MRS. CHARLES D. FOX

Mrs. Annie Addison Fox, of 10 Simpson road, Ardmore, died Wednesday at the home of her son, Dr. Charles D. Fox.

She was the widow of the late Charles D. Fox, and is survived by three sons, Walter Addison Fox, of Merwyn road, Merion; Clifford S. Fox, of Flushing, N. Y., and Dr. Charles D. Fox, of Ardmore.

Funeral services were held yesterday at 11 A. M. from the funeral parlors of Oliver H. Blair.

RICKLIN—SEARCUS

Louise Ricklin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hyman Ricklin, of Narberth, was married Thanksgiving Day to Miss Katharine Searcus, of Philadelphia. The ceremony was performed at the Wnnefield Synagogue.

The bridegroom is a graduate of the local public and high schools, and is associated with his father in the hardware business.

Clear as the Dawn

—the Startling Shrill of the Morning Bird
—Without the Faintest Murmur of a Leaf

Those full clear tones of the New Apex "Six"—how delicately they accentuate the harmony of music, the power of human voice! True enjoyment. Natural to an uncanny degree, devoid of all distortion. To herald those fleet sounds, a mile or a thousand miles away, at the turn of a single dial will bring that superlative thrill of radio known only to the Apex owner. To sit back, then, and hear those mellow harmonies — to shut your eyes and dwell in the vast realm of radio, will reveal a world of untold pleasure created for you by the progress of science. Truly, the New Apex "Six" has combined the greatest achievements of the day. It has encompassed every advanced feature made possible through years of conscientious research. Allow us to give you an actual demonstration — in your own home if you wish. The satisfaction derived will prove beyond compare. Come in today and hear it.

Little Chats About Your Health, No. 5

Publication Suggests True Death Certificates.

The London Life Magazine prophecies that some day we will get the truth in death certificates and that the reports will read something like this:

"Died after thirty years of overeating."

"Smothered himself to death; worked and slept in unventilated rooms."

"Poisoned by wrong cooking methods."

"Burned out; slept only six hours a night."

"Killed by high living."

"Good health is a luxury that all of us can enjoy if we are willing to play the game on a long law of averages."

By carefully avoiding the causes which were responsible for the above "certificates" and by getting your doctor's advice whenever such help is needed you can go a long way toward living a long and happy life.

We can help whenever prescriptions are to be filled.
